CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Echurig's Appointment as City Electrician Reported on and Confirmed.

WHEELER AND EDWARDS ONLY VOTED NO

Additional Appropriation Made for the Board of Health-Street Sweeping Money Gets Scarce-Another Tilt on Corby Street Paving Matter.

The long deferred report of the judiciary committee on the mayor's appointment of Edward S. Schurig as city electrician was presented at the regular meeting of the city council last evening. The committee recommended that the appointment be confirmed and the report was adopted, Wheeler and Edwards voting no with the explanation that they did not know the candidate.

The action taken at the previous meeting in giving property owners additional time in which to select material for the Corby street paving was reconsidered on motion of Howell, who stated that he was convinced that he had erred in his understanding of the committee report presented at the previous meeting. Wheeler and Saunders submitted the records of the council and read the section of the charter to show the committee had erred in reporting that the property owners had not had the time prescribed by law. Saunders represented that while there was not a majority of feet frontage on the petition in favor of any material the plurality and that under the charter it was the duty with that material.

The question was recommitted to the committee, which then presented a second report recommending that the contract be awarded for the material that should be designated by the first petition submitted which represented a majority of the property owners. This was also objected to on the ground that it was practically repeating the previous action under a different form. result was the same as before, and the report of the committee was adopted.

The mayor's appointment of the following appraisers was confirmed: On grading Twenty-sixth street from Hickory street to south line of Sculley's addition, F. M. Rich-ardson, W. R. Homan and R. W. Gibson; grading Seventeenth street from Vinton to Castellar, W. G. Shriver, R. W. Gibson and The bill of Charles Spoerl for killing un tagged dogs during the month of July amounted to $458. The amount being so large it was referred for investigation. STREET SWEEPING FUND LOW.

The claim of James Stephenson for street sweeping during July, amounting to $2,747.16, was allowed. In this connection a communication from the Board of Public Works called attention to the condition of the curb, gutter and cleaning fund, from which these bills were paid. The statement of the comptroller showed that $3,519.83 remained in the fund July 21. Deducting the July bill a balance of only $772.67 remained in the fund. Under the provisions of the street sweeping contract the contractor was entitled to not less than 1,000 miles of sweeping per year at $17.97 per mile, or $17,990 per year. Including the July estimate the contractor had been paid $9,375.85 this year, leaving a balance to which he would be entitled for the remainder of the 1,000 miles to be swept of $8,674.15. In view of these facts the board asked for instructions from the council. The communication was referred to the finance committee and the July bill was ordered to be taken out of the

A communication from the Board of Education offering to pay one-half the expense of three electric lights on the High school grounds was tabled. This action was taken on the ground that it was the business of the board to pay for the lights if it wanted em and also that it had already violated a similar agreement with the city.

A request from the Barber Asphalt company asking that the item favor be withdrawn from the pending appropriation ordinance was promptly granted.

The bid of Thomas Casey for feeding city prisoners for the next twelve months at 9 cents per meal was accepted. Bids for furhishing coal for the ensuing year were re-ferred for tabulation.

Councilman Edwards was granted month's leave of absence on account of sickness in his family. The question of granting licenses as hack drivers to C. P. Keys and Charles Haggerty, which has hung fire in the council for some weeks, was decided in the affirmation. ive. The two men were originally refused licenses by Inspector Hurst on the strength of a report from a sergeant of police stating that Haggerty was a disreputable character who had associated for years with the lowest grade of thieves and prostitutes and that Keys had been repeatedly fined for violations of the back ordinance. A minority of the council made a stubborn fight against in-structing the inspector to issue the licenses on account of the bad character of the applicants, but were overruled.

The Board of Health was granted an additional appropriation of $3,500, with which to carry on the department for the balance of the year.

The bond of Edward Schurig, with P.

Karbach, E. P. Davis and George N. Hicks as sureties, was approved. The following ordinances were passed:
Amending section 90 of the building ordinance; ordering grading of Thirty-third street from Farnam to Dodge streets; July appropriation ordinance; grading portions of Lake and Thirtieth streets; changing curb lines of Seventeenth street from Ohio to Locust street; establishing grades on Hickory and Thirty-second streets; levying special tax for grading alley in Courtland Place and numerous additional levy ordinances.

At a meeting of the joint electric committee yesterday afternoon Mr. S. L. Wiley and other officials of the New Thomson-Houston Electric Light company appeared for the ostensible purpose of signing the contract in accordance with their bid of $111.50 per light, which was accepted by the council. The representatives of the company finally refused to sign the contract, however, on account of the clause requiring them to come in under the general ordinance which gives to other company the right to may wires

Early Monday morning Officer Kelly arrested two men named Hammond and Londell, who were acting in a suspicious manner and had been trying to dispose of a valuable bracelet at a cheap price in the afternoon. The next day the men were given a short sentence by the police judge, and yeaterday they were put to work on the chain gang. Both of them tried to escape and Hammond succeeded in getting away Special Officer Moore, who has charge of the city prisoners.

While the men were out at work Mr. Yeomans reported the robbery and left a description of the stolen property at the police station. He was shown the bracelet and readily identified it as part of the jewelry stolen from his residence on Sunday. The officers waited for the chain gang to be officers waited for the chain gang to be brought in from work and were then going to serve warrants on Hammond and Londell charging them with burglary. They were much disappointed when told that Hammond had escaped, as it is believed that he is the leader of a gang of thieves who have been working the residence portion of the een working the residence portion of the ty. The warrant was served on Londell ad detectives are now looking for Ham-ond and a pal who has not yet been arested. Part of the jewelry has been re-overed. CONFIDENCE MEN CAUGHT.

They Confess that They Are Old Hands at the Business During all the spring and the early summer Iver Johnson worked for a farmer residing near Sican, Ia., saving up his money for the coming of a rainy day. He decided to come to Omaha to look for a job and upon arriving in the city about the first thing that he did was to run up against a brace game, by which he lost all of his money. Yesterday afternoon Johnson was walking along lower Douglas when he was approached by a Swede, one of his own countrymen, who invited him into a neighboring saloon to enjoy a social glass of beer. vitation was accepted and as the glasses were drained another Swede appeared upon the scene and another round of beer was ordered. As this disappeared the party who first met Johnson bet the newcomer that he could take dice and throw sixes every time The bet was accepted, with $100 for the stakes. The throw was made and Johnson's friend lost. Hunting through his pockets he discovered that he had but $85 and at once importuned the young man from Iowa for a loan until he could go around to a bank and draw some cash. Johnson turned over the money and was told to remain in the saloon until the return trip from the hours and then went to the police station police a good description of the confidence

Detectives Dunn and Donahue were pu at work on the case. They went down in the bottoms and soon found two men answering the description given them. They were placed under arrest and gave the names of Charles Wilson and William Carlson. On the way to the station they agreed to give the detectives the money which had been taken from Johnson if they would re-lease them. The men confessed that they had turned the trick and said that if they had not robbed Johnson somebody else would. They claimed to be from Minneapolis and said that they had worked their "graft" in that place good and strong, and when they nared matters with the police by dividing their station they acknowledged their guilt by of-fering to refund the money if Johnson would not appear against them. Judge Berka happened to hear the conversation and the mer will take their dose of justice from him this morning. The "con" men are unknown to the police, but it is believed that they are

WAS STARVING TO DEATH

Pitiful Case of a Young Woman Out for Work Prought to Light.

DYING BECAUSE UNABLE TO BUY BREAD

Too Proud to Ask for Help in a Single Handed Battle for Existence When She Was Losing-Sent to the Hospital.

Fannie Campbell, who has been rooming at 302 North Thirteenth street for the past three weeks, was taken to the police station last night, after attempting suicide, as was reported, by taking about two ounces of chloroform. Dr. Towne was summoned and administered restoratives, after which the woman was taken to the Methodist hospital. It was found that she did not take the poison with suicidal intent, but to ease the pain, from which she was suffering intensely. This young woman has a sad history. Dr. Towne said that she was sick from a lack of food and proper nourishment, and if she had continued in her present condition for a short time she would have actually starved to death. He ordered that she be given small quantities of liquid nourishment until she got strong enough to partake of solids.

The woman is the divorced wife of an ex-Omaha newspaper man named Fields, and she has been trying to earn her living as a clerk in one of the large dry goods establishents in this city since she and her husband separated. Her parents reside near Atkinson, Neb., and she has a brother who is mployed on the staff of the Sioux ournal. Her parents are just about able to support themselves, and, as they are getting old, she did not feel like imposing the additional burden of her support upon them. About six weeks ago her health became so poor that she was compelled to give up her position and go home for a short time. She boon recovered and came back to Omaha. She again tried to secure employment, but was taken sick in her room at Mrs. McGrew's house on Thirteenth and Davenport streets. Her funds were soon exhausted, and she has been dependent on the care of her landlady for several days. Mrs. McGrew had made arrangements for moving to lows and had nostponed her removal as long as possible in hopes that Fannie would recover sufficiently to be able to go to work again. But the young woman continued to get worse and yesterday Mrs. McGrew applied at the police station for information. The county and city physicians were summoned to attend the sufferer and they decided to attempt to secure a place for her in one of the hospitals. Mrs. McGrew was referred to the county commis-sioners for assistance, but last evening she has been unable to secure their attention with pains in the stomach that she begged for chloroform to ease the pain during the night. Some one secured a small bottle of the drug for her, and, in her haste, she took too much of it and word was sent to the sta-

The woman was removed to the hospital in the police ambulance and was so weak that the motion was in a semi-conscious condition when carried into the hospital, but she will now re-ceive the best of treatment. She requested that her brother be notified and said that he would come to her assistance at once. She seems to be too proud to let any one know her true condition, and it is thought that because she had no money she had secretly denied herself food enough to properly sustain life. Labor Committees Admit They Were Too Hasty in Condemning Seavey.

The committee on men and discipline of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners held a meeting yesterday afternoon to inquire into the charges made against Chief of Police Seavey by committees from the Central Labor union and the Knights of Labor. These organizations filed charges and resolutions adopted by them with the board some time ago and demanded that the action of the chief in sending officers to the East Omaha bridge to meet Hogan's Montana division of the Commonweal army which was on its way down the river be investigated. The representatives of the Central Labor union claimed that the chief gave this order with malicious intent and without legal au-thority in hopes of making the army land on the lowa side. Several members of the labor union were present at the meeting o the committee, as were the officers sent to carry out the order, and the chief. The police officers testified that they were sent to the East Omaha bridge to assist the army in locating a camping place, as they expected to remain in this city for a few days and did not want to trespass on public or private grounds, where they were not welcome The chief issued this order at the request of a man named Davis, who was the advance agent and solicitor for Hogan's men. The members of the Central Labor union then admitted that they had been misin-formed in the matter and that these reso-lutions did an injustice to the chief. They said they would call the matter up at their next meeting and recommend that resolutions exonerating the chief be passed. The committee will submit its report in the matter at the regular meeting next Monday night. Clan Gordon.

HYMN BOOK FOR A WEAPON.

Leader of St. Joseph's Choir Strikes One of the Popplar Members. For many years the harmony that has prevalled among the members of St. Joseph's Catholic church, situated at Seventeenth and Center streets, has been the talk of the That harmony, however, no long r prevails to any alarming extent, as the congregation has been divided into factions, one arrayed against the other in a fight that has brought on blows, with the final round in the police court of the city. Long years ago Peter Bugger united his fortunes with St. Joseph's church and since that time he has been regarded as one of the pillars of the institution, both from a spiritual and a financial standpoint. All of the members of the family have been communicants, attending with regularity, while his daughter, Victoria, has been one of the singers in the choir. She has a wonderfully sweet voice and a pleasant face, which two facts, coupled together, have made ber a general favorite with pastor and people, and allowed to sell the Times with the others. every Sunday for a long period of time she has occupied her place in the vicinity of the grand old pips organ, thrilling the listeners with her bird-like melodies. Some months ago Mrs. Maggie Eberz was promoted to the position of organist and leader of the choir and since that date things have not been running so smoothly as they did before, though there never was an open rebellion until last Wednesday night, when blows were struck and a small sized revolt was declared, all on account of a little singing that was being done at a choir practice. On that particular night the weather was sweltering hot and several of the members of the choir were not in the best of humor. The anthems for the fol-lowing Sabbath had been practiced when the organist accused Miss Victoria of not doing her best. She went so far as to tell the young lady that her voice was a horrible discord, lacking the softness of a good singer and that if she did not do better she would be expelled from the choir, BATTERED WITH HYMNS.

If there is anything of which Miss Vic-toria Bugger is sensitive, it is her sing-ing, and being thus addressed, she resented the imputation, declaring that she had been singing in the choir for years, and that beno person had ever questioned her ty. The organist declared that she ability. knew whereof she spake, and that her word was law, and if it was not, she would lay the whole matter before the priest. It was apparent that there was trouble in sight, but quiet was restored and the practice coninued, both of the ladies nursing their wrath. Finally the exercises were concluded, after which there were some more not words, and all of the parties started to leave the church. As they were going down the steps, Mrs. Eberz took occasion to re-mark about the choir practice, when Miss Victoria up and told her that she did not propose to practice three nights each week. This angered Mrs. Eberz and drawing back, she struck Miss Bugger a couple of times with a hymn book which she was carrying in her hand. The young lady let out a cry of pain and started down the steps at a rate of speed seldom equaled and never excelled. Rushing to and never excelled. Rushing to the home of her parents she found her father ndustriously trying to find a place where he could get away from the Kansas simoon which was blowing that night. She told him the tale of the insuit and hastily drawing on a dressing gown and a pair of slip-pers, he started out to find Mrs. Eberz, neeting her at Sixteenth and Center streets where he remarked: "So you are going to drive my daughter out of the choir." Mrs. Eberz shot out a glance that was hotter than the south wind which was blowing from the burning sands of Kansas and straightening herself up her full heighth, answered: "You dirty old farmer."

This was too much for the head of the louse of Bugger to stand without resen and in no gentle tone of voice he responded: "We'll settle this matter right now and provided you have no objections. Mrs. Eberz was anxious for the fray and so informed Mr. Bugger. People who were returning from the church sued for peace, but both parties declared that there could be no peace until some person had apologized for the insults and the wrongs.

THIS WAS DISCORD. For a moment both man and woman glared at one another like a couple of infuriated beasts, while those who were standing around trembled as they pictured the results of a man and a woman engaged in a fist fight when nothing worse than a discord in singing a church bymn was the issue. The glaring continued for a moment, and then Mr. Bugger closed in upon his prey. There was a short struggle, while the crowd watched and prayed for the coming of a short struggle, while the crowd Mrs. Eberz broke away. In doing so Mr. Bugger seized her hymn book and threw it to the ground. This added fuel to the flames, and reaching out her right, Mrs. Eberz landed one beneath the eye of the head of the Bugger family. Instead of head of the Bugger family. Instead of striking back, Mr. Bugger pushed the woman off the sidewalk, landing her in the gutter and spraining one of her fingers.

At this point in the proceedings the spectators thought it time to interfere, and in doing so, they separated the two parties and marched them away to their respective homes, where they swathed themselves in arnica and flannels during the remainder of the night. Yesterday the case was called in the police court, where a dozen or more wit-nesses testified, detailing the circumstances as above stated, after which the court found Mr. Bugger guilty of an assault, fining him $14 and costs, besides administering a lecture concerning the disgrace that attends

Fine sandy bottom at Courtland. THE HAYDEN BOYCOTT. OMAHA, July 31 .- To the Editor o' The Bee:-Referring to Mr. Sebring's communication in yesterday's edition

Mr. Sebring is not too impatient will have no reason to fee slighted. There has been more talk about this boycott than can easily be put in a single article. There was no intention of giving Julius Meyer credit for being the sole inventor of this great boycott enterprise. What was said was merely quoted from Mr. confidential talks. derstand that Julius talked for publication, nor have we any intention of repeating all he said. It would not seem like one of those little acts of kindness so frequently mentioned by juvenile teachers. When Mr. Meyer talked most he seemed as brim full of this great undertaking as a boy of sev-enteen is of quixotic notions. In fact, Mr. Meyer said the newspapers were the greatest enemies of the boycott, and he intended to prosecute this boycott on the dead quiet and would never let up until Hayden Bros. did a legitimate business. It is no more than fair to say that Mr. Meyer disclaimed any personal interest, as his house is doing a strictly wholesale business. It is possible that some people may not know the trade meaning of a "legitimate business," and a single example will make it quite clear. A lady said in our music room the other day that she paid 80 cents for the same sheet music that our music de-partment is selling for 6 cents, and that is what is known as a "legitimate" price which is quite a genteel way of merchan dising, and will encouage the working man's little girl to be very careful of her sheet music— (if she has any). Mr. Sebring knows how innocent he was when Hayden asked him the cause of the boycott. He did not know that Hayden

WHOOP-LA!

FOR THIS WEEK.

Every day from 7 a. m. till 6:30 p. m., and on Saturday till 10 p. m. Figures don't lie, unless a liar makes the figures. The best music always draws crowds in Omaha, and here are some melodies adapted to the times which distance Thomas and lead any band in the city an entire lap.

Paris Confidante.

Compare this charming bit of French Art with the horrible and cumbrous creations in horsehair with "squab" seat and garden rollers for pillows. will realize then what progress has been made in the last few years.

"Confidante" is the pretty name given to this small sofa by its French ancestors. The word tells its own story. It is intended as a seat for two persons in retired or semi-private conversation. Such a piece of furniture is surely need. ed in every drawing-room.

With these Confidantes we are sup plying a Lady's Easy Chair and Gentle-man's Arm Chair, making a dainty set of three pieces. The chairs are of different size, but each is constructed on the same lines as the sofa, having the back and sides in a semi-circle. The design is full of beauty. Nothing could be more graceful than the long sweep of the back with the curved legs and side arms. We price the whole set at the cost of an ordinary stuffed sofa. It is an attractive purchase.
